

FALLING INTO LINE

WHAT ACTION THE COAL MINERS ARE TAKING.

Pittsburg District Men are Out and Their Officers Claim That They Are in Good Shape for a Fight. Though There May Be Reasons for a Contrary Opinion—Pittsburg and Iowa Miners Not So Easily Moved—Miners' Officers Express Hopes That the West Virginia Miners Will Go Out—Other Labor Matters.

Columbus, Ohio, July 5.—National mine officers were at headquarters today to discuss the situation which might come in. President Ratchford was confident that West Virginia miners would fall into line in a day or two.

"They are demoralized and disorganized," continued Mr. Ratchford, "and when they see the magnitude of the strike, they will catch the contagion and quit."

As to the general situation Mr. Ratchford said: "The miners of the different localities meet today, not to decide whether to strike or not, but to arrange for the management of the strike in their respective localities. We, the national officers, will wait on the district presidents and the latter wait on the meetings. Yesterday and today not being working days the strike really begins tomorrow. It will be several days before reports come in."

GLOUCESTER MEN INDORSE.

Columbus, O., July 5.—The miners at Gloucester have endorsed the strike.

IN THE PITTSBURGH DISTRICT.

Pittsburg, Pa., July 5.—The great war of the coal miners was inaugurated throughout the Pittsburgh district today, but it will be impossible to tell anything about the situation before tomorrow, this being a general holiday, and work is suspended in all the mines of the district. This was a day of mass meetings. By a preconcerted arrangement of the district executive board of the United Mine Workers meetings were held in nearly every mining settlement and was represented by Saturday's convention in this city, and the miners were instructed not to fall in the great struggle that has begun. What effect the meetings will have cannot be determined until Tuesday morning. When it is learned just how many may refuse to go to work, then the magnitude of the strike will manifest itself. Much doubt is expressed as to the action of the Pittsburgh and Chicago miners on the Wheeling division of the Baltimore and Ohio, the companies on the Panhandle who are working at the sixty-cent rate, under an ironclad contract, and the New York and Cleveland miners at Turtle Creek, Plum Creek and Sandy Creek. The miners' officials claim that these men will strike and the operators say they will not. In speaking of the strike, President Dolan said:

"The coming week will be a busy one. I have every reason to believe that with the exception of a very few mines the suspension will be general. Our men realize that this is the fight of their lives and from the expression of determination that I hear on all sides, I have every reason to believe that the strike will be successful. How long will it last? That is a difficult question to answer. But one thing you can rest assured, we are in good shape to stay out all summer. By good shape, I mean that with warm weather and with a prospective big demand for lake trade coal in eight weeks makes the times much more opportune than in winter."

"There is a general impression that by reason of so many industries being put down there will be little demand for coal. It is not generally known, but the supply of coal for the manufacturers in the Pittsburgh district is but a drop in the bucket when compared with the lake trade, which supplies the markets where coal mines are practically unknown."

"The general suspension, to these in a position to know, presents some very discouraging features. The past winter has been severe on the mining craft. Business has been very dull, and in addition the lowest rate ever paid in the district prevailed for the little work that was done. Women and children have been suffering from starvation, and many of them have been wards of the county. With spring, the conditions were a little improved and during the past month many mines have been running continuously. That little has been used in paying debts contracted during the reign of semi-starvation. It was expected at the meetings today to make an effort to convince the miners that by reason of the suspension being general victory was bound to follow. It was argued that the public was in favor of the Resolutions were adopted declaring: "We endorse the time-honored Democratic doctrine that taxes should be laid for revenue only and limited to the wants of a simple government honestly administered, and we denounce the scheme of the Dingley bill and various amendments made in secret caucus, as a move for the robbery of the masses from the Republican law known as the McKinley bill, twice repudiated by the people. Dictated by trusts and monopolies, in part payment for money advanced to corrupt the suffrage, its main effects are to enrich the few at the expense of the many and to release capital from all taxation while restricting our trade and depriving the American producers of free access to the markets of the world."

"We re-affirm the Democratic doctrine that the legal tender money of the people should be issued by the government and we demand that all paper representatives of money shall be redeemable in coin, the silver and gold of the constitution. And we demand the free and unlimited exchange of both gold and silver at the present legal ratio of 15 to 1, without waiting for the consent of any other nation."

"As our forefathers, 121 years ago, declared that this people were and of right ought to be free from all foreign domination and control, so now we demand that this people make its own national laws, all of them, without asking the advice or consent of any foreign government."

"The Democratic party from the beginning has pronounced its sympathies with every people struggling for the right to govern themselves in their own way. So, now, do we extend our hearty sympathy to the people of Cuba in the heroic stand for liberty and independence, and do declare that the day should be hastened, by all proper means, which shall see the flag of Cuba fixed forever in the constellation of American states, and we demand the immediate recognition of the belligerent rights of the Cuban people."

Thousands of women are cast up dead on the shores of life because of their own ignorance or neglect. No woman can be free from pain, or safe from the ever-threatening brokers of death, who neglects to take proper care of the organs that constitute her womanhood. A woman who neglects her womanly self will be sick, nervous, pain-racked and fretful, and approaching maturity will be a menace of the grave. It is easy for a woman to avoid this suffering and danger.

Wise women know that Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a marvelous remedy for those troubles that make a woman's life miserable, and fill the period of prospective motherhood with fears. It is the discovery of an eminent and skillful specialist, Dr. R. V. Pierce, for thirty years chief consulting physician to the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, at Buffalo, N. Y. Over 30,000 women have testified to the almost miraculous action of this wonderful remedy. It works directly on the organs distinctly feminine. It makes them strong and healthy. It cures all weakness and disease. It prepares for widowhood and motherhood. It insures baby's health and makes its advent easy and nearly painless. Druggists sell it. Nothing else is "just as good."

Mrs. G. A. Connor, of Allegheny Spring, Montgomery Co., Va., writes: "My daughter, aged 15 years, had a gleet coming on her neck and it distressed her very much. I am happy to say that it has disappeared after the use of one bottle of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription."

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser is in plain English. Contains 1,000 pages and over 300 illustrations. BUTCHERS THE IMMORTAL BARD

Anglophile Bayard Makes Shakespeare Out of a Bank Robbery.

Philadelphia, July 5.—The 121st anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence was celebrated today in front of Independence Hall. The celebration was held under the auspices of the Society of the War of 1812. Pennsylvania. The ceremonies consisted in an address by Mayor Warwick, the reading of the Declaration of Independence, and singing by school children. Hon. Thomas F. Bayard, ex-minister to England, was the orator of the day. Mr. Bayard prefaced his address with a brief history of the country from the time of George Washington up to the present day. In referring to the Declaration of Independence he said:

"Never was the Declaration of American independence in 1776 justifiable before God and man as it is by the relations and condition of the two English-speaking nations which exist today. And, thanks be to God, never were the international relations between the two countries in a clearer atmosphere of unmistakable mutual good understanding and more free from ignorant suspicion or hostile intent than in this 121st anniversary of American independence."

Mr. Bayard concluded:

"Today, there is in the minds of thinking men in this country a widespread and vague uneasiness on a question which casts its shadow over the outlook of business and bedrows the atmosphere of hope and enterprise."

"Capital is one form of property, and is sensitive. It shrinks when confidence is weakened. Such apprehensions, everywhere, vague and undefined, chill the energies of men and check their enterprise and labor waits for capital to regain its courage and venture away the objections and dangers which impede employment and do bring the energies of individuals into co-operative action. And while labor is waiting, suffering does not wait, and worn faces and hollow cheeks tell the story, amid mutterings of discontent. All this can be relieved, for there does not seem much doubt as to the true cause that 'dulls the edge of enterprise and sickles off with the palecast of thought.'"

"It is not the uncertainty in men's minds as to what may be done with the currency of the country which is the very basis of commerce and industrial life and runs through every artery of the body politic? A derangement of the currency of the country is like unto a poisoning of the lifeblood of a man, and no greater danger can await us. A derangement of currency will confuse and demoralize every transaction in life, great and small, from the payment of the daily wages of labor to the financial arrangements to carry out the vastest enterprises. No contract can be safely agreed upon and no business can be safely conducted under it or prosper in its company. To embark the business and contracts of a country upon a currency which is not fully anchored upon a stable standard and measure of value is to insure ruin and disaster to every member of society."

"No elections are now pending, but the time approaches with inevitable certainty and from a full heart and in all earnestness and sincere affection I conjure my fellow countrymen, casting aside all other differences of opinion, to reject the delusions of those remedies which in seasons of popular distress or excitement induce the foolish and impetuous belief in the power of any government to create values by statute."

ENDEAVOREES ON THE COAST

Only a Few of the Advance Guard Yet in San Francisco.

San Francisco, July 5.—At the principal hotels this morning only a few delegates of the Christian Endeavor convention were found to have registered, but a number of the advance guard of Endeavorers had secured quarters. Among those who have arrived is General Secretary John Willie Eber.

He comes filled with enthusiasm for success for the convention and declares himself charmed with the elaborate preparations made by both the Christian Endeavor organization and the business men of the city.

Central Methodist Episcopal church was packed last night at the "Christian citizenship meeting" held in honor of the delegates of the Christian Endeavor organization. Representatives of the society from Mexico, Peru, Montana, Idaho, Pennsylvania and Oregon were present. "Christian Citizenship" was the theme.

BRIDGE NOTES FROM TOPEKA

It is Again Asserted That Lowell's Cake is Tough.

The Populist state administration is occupying a position just above a political volcano and there is soon to be an eruption. The Populist papers throughout the state have given the warning. The administration must do one of two things: It must either fire Lowell off the board of railroad commissioners or suffer certain defeat at the Populist state convention next year. The Populist masses, through their mouthpieces, the Populist county papers in the state, have spoken. The matter has come to a showdown, and in order to save itself the administration must get a double geared move on itself.

Ex-Governor George Washington Glick of Kansas today quickly celebrated the seventeenth anniversary of his birth at his beautiful home in Atchison, where he has passed the forty years of his life. Those who participated in the celebration were his wife, his son and daughter, his son-in-law, James W. Orr, an eminent young lawyer; his daughter-in-law, Mrs. Fred Glick, and the ex-governor's two grandchildren, George Washington Glick and George Glick Orr.

Governor Leedy has become alarmed over the outlook for a second nomination, and is now extending the olive branch to those whom he has snubbed. Among others with whom he wants to make peace is John W. Breidenbach, chairman of the Populist state committee, but his treatment of Breidenbach has been so shabby that he will find it impossible to enlist Breidenbach's services under his banner. Breidenbach was called in for advice for the first time a few days ago, when it came to the election of a state house engineer. When the governor sent for him, he was almost paralyzed. But he went on, and when asked whom he thought would be the proper man to elect, said: "Well, inasmuch as you have seen fit to make all the important appointments without consulting the state committee, I, as chairman, do not feel like making any recommendation whatever for such an important place as state house engineer. Just name any old person. I guess it can't make matters any worse."

Fort Wayne, Ind., July 5.—July 5 was another hot day here. The thermometer was above 90 degrees nearly all day.

Detroit, Mich., July 5.—The heat became less unbearable towards evening, but four deaths from prostrations are reported during the day in the city and vicinity.

Gloversville, N. Y., July 5.—At the Nathan Liebert hospital field today Arthur A. Zimmerman, paced by a triquet, made an exhibition mile in 3:02 1/2. He also went a half-mile against time in 37:1-2.

Chicago, July 5.—Today was cooler, but the pavements and buildings had stored up sufficient heat to make things uncomfortable. There were nine deaths and twenty-eight prostrations, three of them probably fatal.

Cincinnati, O., July 5.—The heat continued today. Twenty-two cases of prostration have been reported in the city and eight deaths. The streets were almost deserted, only those going out whose business was imperative.

Worcester, Mass., July 5.—The chief attraction at the race promoters' meet at the fair ground this afternoon was the attempt by Jimmie Michael to lower the track record of 2:06 in a flying start, paced by one of his quadruplets. He gave a pretty exhibition of riding, but one of the chains of the quad broke and Michael had to do most of the last half mile alone. He finished the mile in 2:06 3/4.

DESERTIONS FROM THE NAVY.

Many of the War Vessels Without Their Full Complement of Men.

Many of the war ships of the United States navy are without their full complement of men because of desertions. Many of the men have left the vessels to which they were attached without permission, and it has been found necessary on board of some of the vessels to grant shore leave only to the men who have served on the vessels a long time, and who can be relied upon to return when their leave has expired.

Of the ships that have lost men by desertion the cruiser Raleigh has suffered the severest loss. She is now at New York to join the fleet of war vessels on the European station, and to relieve the cruiser Cincinnati, which will return to this country for repairs and also to be put out of commission.

When the Raleigh left here she carried a number of men that are to be transferred to the ships that will remain in European waters, to take the places of the men whose time has expired and who will be brought home in the Cincinnati to be paid off and receive their honorable discharges.

A certain writer declares that soup is responsible for nearly all the dyspepsia that exists. He asserts that soup at the beginning of a dinner distends the stomach and prevents the digestion of the solids that follow. Furthermore, he claims that there is no nourishment in soup, and its heat injures the teeth.

You can secure the whole 59 songs for 25 cents, at the Eagle counting room.

To the Publisher of the Eagle:

I am delighted with my copy of "Sweet Sacred Songs." As a collection it is a distinct advance over anything I have heretofore examined. It is a case where familiarity will produce affection. Unlike other low-priced music, the paper and prints are of good grade, making this beautiful folio worth many times the price asked for it.

A. W. SICKNER,

To the Publisher of the Eagle:

"Sweet Sacred Songs," and am perfectly astonished that so fine a collection can be furnished at so low a price. It is easily worth six times the price asked, and every home should have one. The value of the presence of such music in a home cannot be overestimated, and everyone should take advantage of this opportunity so generously furnished by the Eagle. Yours truly,

To the Publisher of the Eagle:

"I am glad to know that you are having such a run on 'Sweet Sacred Songs.' It's a gem. What it costs to procure it is a mere trifle compared with the real worth of the collection. I take pleasure in recommending it to all of my sacred songs."
